Good Design: Stories from Herman Miller August 15, 2010 – October 17, 2010

This exhibition explores the collaborative design process employed at Herman Miller, the world-renowned furniture company that has used design to solve problems for the home and workplace for almost ninety years. Good Design showcases archival holdings of concept models, drawings, supplementary photographs and completed masterworks of design in furniture and decorative art produced by Herman Miller, Inc. Works by Gilbert Rohde, Ray and Charles Eames, George Nelson, Alexander Girard, Robert Probst, Bill Stumpf, Don Chadwick, Ayse Birdsel, and other well known designers are featured.

Also on view

The Edge of Art: New York State Artist Series Designed to Scale August 14, 2010 - October 24, 2010

Designed to Scale, part three of the 2010 New York State Artists Series showcases significant designers from the Central New York region whose work is recognized in the national and international design arenas. Although modest in scale, the exhibition touches on a broad range of innovative design objects-furniture, lighting, commercial products and dining experiences, unique accessories, toys, and surface patterns.

Evening for Educators September 15, 2010, 4.00 – 6.00pm $10 pre-registration required RSVP by September 3

Join the education department for a private viewing and tour of Good Design: Stories from Herman Miller, and Designed to Scale led by guest speaker Linda Labella-Morgan. Educator packets will offer many ways to engage your students in pre- and post-tour activities. A reception and musical entertainment will follow.

To pre-register, fill out attached form along with payment and mail to the Everson Museum of Art or contact Amy Goodall-Ayres at agoodall@everson.org or (315) 474-6064 x 303 to reserve your place.
